

The Times' Daily Short Story.

His First Case In Court

(Original.)
George Crawford left his school of his native village to go to college with a view to becoming a lawyer. How he was to pay his way no one knew, for he had not a cent in the world. Moreover, there was a love match between him and his schoolmate, Maggie, a girl, beginning of which neither could remember. The affair first began to look serious when George went to college. At least, it was then that Maggie's father first took notice of it and showed his opposition. He reminded his daughter that she was at a marriageable age, while her lover had four years at college, three at law school and no one could tell how many more in getting a practice at his profession. But all this depended on his getting the money to pay his expenses. Maggie made up her mind to wait for George Crawford.

George at his entrance to college won a scholarship that by dint of rigid economy helped him through his first year. After that he did odd jobs, taught, won prizes, thus scraping together enough to put him through college. When it came to studying law, he found a position in a school requiring but a few hours of each day. This gave him what he needed to complete his legal education.

George was advised by most of his professors to plant himself in a large city, but one of them, differing from the rest, recommended the country, where, if the field was smaller, the competition was less. George chose the country and settled in his native village.

When one finds himself on the wrong side of a question the more the case goes against him the closer he is tempted to cling to it. Maggie's father was the notary of the village, and, having once studied a little law in a country office, now found his daughter's suit, whom he had opposed, looking down on him from a comparatively high legal pinnacle. His opposition to the match was more obstinate than it had been seven years before.

Judge Pixley, as he had come to be called by his fellow citizens who knew his weakness in respect to legal lore, was the recipient of many small trusts. One day four men came together to his office and after asking if he were Judge Pixley, laying stress on the "Judge," asked him to take charge of some $12,000 bill they should call for it again, offering him a large fee. The notary, without stopping to inquire whence the money came, accepted the trust and at their request drew up a receipt, ending with an agreement to pay over the money when called for to each and every one of those who had left it with him and to none of them separately. This done, they departed.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

That the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, endorse and praise in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient entering into the make-up of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator and blood cleanser. This is also equally true of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of all those weaknesses and other distressing ailments peculiar to women.

No other medicines sold through druggists for domestic use, can show any such professional endorsement. Dr. Pierce's above mentioned remedies are non-alcoholic and non-narcotic, all their ingredients being printed on each bottle wrapper. They occupy a unique position and are a CLASS ALL BY THEMSELVES. They are neither secret nor patent medicines. They are powerful to cure but safe to use in any condition of the system, even for the most delicate women and children.

Pure, triple refined glycerine, which is used instead of alcohol both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal principles from the roots of several American forest plants entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines, is much superior to alcohol for these purposes, and is entirely free from the objectionable features inherent in alcohol, inasmuch as it produces only salutary influences upon the system, while alcohol, even in moderate portions, if long continued, as in the treatment of obstinate ailments, is very injurious and often begets a craving for stimulants. Furthermore, glycerine itself is a most valuable curative agent instead of being a harmful habit-forming agent like alcohol. Its nutritive properties, Dr. Pierce's medicines, are greatly enhanced by the use of glycerine in the professional belief, far surpasses those of cod liver oil, entailing it to favorable consideration as a valuable domestic remedy in all cases of chronic disease of the lungs, consumption, especially when it is combined with the active medicinal principles extracted from Black Cherry, Queen's root, Golden Seal, and other ingredients, as in "Golden Medical Discovery."

Besides its superior nutritive properties, glycerine is a very valuable domestic remedy and thereby greatly enhances the remedial action of all the foregoing roots in the cure of severe coughs, bronchitis, throat, laryngeal and other kindred affections of the air-passages and lungs. In all "wasting diseases," where there is loss of flesh and gradual "running down" of the system, the glycerine certainly plays an important part in lessening the breaking down and wasting of flesh, and in promoting assimilation and increase of bodily strength and weight. It is a powerful reconstructive agent in all cases of impaired vitality and especially valuable when associated and combined with such superior alternatives and tonics as in "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." Its wonderful solvent properties also play an important part in the cure of gall stones and severe constipation.

Glycerine is also one of the very best anti-ferments and is rich in contents of the excessive fermentation of foods in the stomach, present in most cases of indigestion or dyspepsia. Thus the pain, belching of noxious gas, bloating and other disagreeable symptoms are overcome and the Stone root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and other ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery" are greatly assisted in their action in completing a cure.

As will be seen from the writings of Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Hale, Wood, Hare, Johnson, Coe, Ellingwood and other high authorities, as contained in the little book mentioned above, these agents can be confidently depended upon for the most positive, curative action in all atonic, or weak, states of the stomach, accompanied with distressing indigestion or dyspepsia and kindred resultant affec-

In a few minutes the spokesman of the party, who had flattered the notary, returned and said that he wished to count the money. Pixley put him at a table with the bills and during the counting was called for a moment into another room. When he returned both the man and the money had vanished.

This was the severest blow the notary had ever received. The only property he possessed was his dwelling, and he had been years paying off a mortgage upon it. To replace the lost money would require the sacrifice of the house and something besides. The old man was in an agony. He spent what ready money he had going to the city and consulting lawyers, all of whom told him that the theft of one of the depositors did not absolve his indebtedness to the others.

He was not kept long in suspense. In a few days the men, excepting the thief, returned and claimed their property. Not receiving it, they entered suit against Pixley, and as there was but little business before the court the case was soon called for trial. There was no lawyer in the place except George Crawford, and Pixley had no money with which to pay a lawyer. Maggie begged George to do something for her father, and the old man was obliged to intrust his case to the person he so bitterly opposed.

On the day of the trial excellent counsel appeared on behalf of the claimants, who made speeches setting forth the villainy of the notary, who had sought to defraud these honest men of their dues. Crawford sat without a protest to these charges, the gaping villagers setting him down for a very poor lawyer for not burling them back in the attorneys' teeth. The judge and jury were not averse to Pixley, but they did not see how they could obey the law and not find a verdict for the plaintiff.

When the case against the defendant had been stated and George arose it was hoped that at last he would make a fiery speech accusing the claimants of collusion besides other crimes and set forth the high standing the defendant had held in the community. Instead he called for a reading of the receipt. When the reader came to the words "shall pay to the said (the names here followed) together and not separately," George called a halt and said:

"Your honor, I ask for a dismissal of the case against my client on the ground that the instrument expressly forbids my client to pay it except to the four men together."

"Case dismissed," said the judge. At the same moment detectives advanced and arrested the claimants on a charge of murder and robbery. George Crawford suspected one or both these crimes and had notified the police of a neighboring city, who had ferreted out a double crime.

The case was the beginning of George Crawford's success at the bar and afterward in public life. He married Maggie Pixley, with her father's approbation. WILLARD K. FIFER.

WOMEN'S NEGLECT
SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time."

Miss Kate McDonald

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, or other female weaknesses.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result. The never-failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Kate McDonald of Woodbridge, N. J., writes:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Restored health has meant so much to me that I cannot help from telling about it for the sake of other suffering women."

"For a long time I suffered untold agony with a female trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I could recover, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a splendid medicine it is."

"For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful. Address, Lynn, Mass."

AERIAL VISITOR.

Navigable Airship Sails the Welkin at Washington.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—While the House and Senate were in session at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon an airship came in sight across the green hills of Virginia, "steamed" through the welkin above Washington, paid a visit to the White House, and then bore down on the dome of the Capitol. Half the population of the city, cheering frantically, followed on through the street beneath.

When the flying machine reached the Capitol it put an end to business, and Vice President Fairbanks, at the head of the designated parties, led the way to the Senate chamber, and the whole House of Representatives scrambled on to the portico and balconies. Representative John Wesley of Indiana alone remained in the deserted hall. Then John Wesley made a motion to take a recess, the chairman solemnly pronounced it carried, and in a twinkling the House was deserted.

The airship, with a lone navigator aboard, circled the great white dome 250 feet above Capitol park and passed with touching distance of the Goddess of Liberty, circled over the Congressional library, and then, as the assembled senators and congressmen, and then settled gracefully as a great white bird on the Capitol plaza beside the statue of Washington.

The populace went crazy with excitement. Finally the airship rose again, passed over the top of the Capitol and disappeared in the direction of Virginia. It was a great shock to the national lawmakers.

Mrs. Conger Sells $800 Ring for $7,000.

Des Moines, Ia., June 15.—Mrs. E. H. Conger, wife of the ex-minister to China, has just completed a splendid home upon the Pacific coast. Shortly before the Congers left, Pekin Mrs. Conger bought a beautiful ring for $800. Shortly after reaching America experts made an examination and the woman almost swooned when a Chicago citizen offered her $7,000 for the ring. Mrs. Conger accepted the offer and the new home in California is the monument to her good fortune.

EAST CALAIS.

Mrs. Adams is gaining slowly.

W. E. Bliss went to Boston Thursday.

Asa Dutton's mother is visiting him.

Mrs. Annie Burnham was down from Hardwick Sunday.

Mary Drennan has been visiting her parents the last week.

A daughter was born to Will Peck and wife last Saturday.

Several from this town attended the circus at Montpelier Saturday.

The listers are busy this week in taking the quadrennial appraisal of real estate.

Children's day will be observed by appropriate exercises at the Union church June 24.

Frank Shaw and wife of Walden visited at D. L. Scott's Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. Sparhawk of St. Johnsbury was called in consultation with Dr. Hall to see Mrs. John Cortes last Monday.

There was quite a hard frost Monday and Tuesday night, especially on the hills. The farm crops suffered somewhat.

Miss Grace Bliss who has been confined to her bed several weeks, is gaining so she sits up some, walks about a little and rides out.

Rev. J. Edward Wright, assisted by Col. A. C. Brown, held an entertainment at the union church Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Ladies' League. It proceeded $22.75. It was both instructive and interesting.

NEW CHARLEY
ROSS CASE

Boy Strangely Stolen In Philadelphia

LURED FROM SCHOOL

Teacher Got Bogus Note to Excuse Little Freddie Muth — There Is No Clear Motive Known for Kidnapping

Philadelphia, June 15.—Not a word has been received from either seven-year-old Freddie Muth, son of a wealthy local jeweler, who was lured from his school and presumably kidnapped for a ransom, or from his supposed kidnappers, and unless something is heard before the day is over the distracted parents of the strangely missing boy, whose case so closely resembles that of Charlie Ross, will refuse to longer accept the advice of the police and will offer a liberal reward for the safe return of the boy.

"I would have offered Wednesday a sum of money to the man who finds Freddie," said Mr. Muth yesterday, "but my friends dissuaded me from doing so, saying that the boy would surely turn up."

"Neither my wife nor I can stand the ordeal of this terrible suspense any longer. We will await today's developments, and if nothing favorable happens I shall announce a liberal reward for the finding of our son. My offer shall have no string to it."

Charles Muth, the younger, disappeared on Tuesday afternoon. He was at the Muhlenberg school, playing during the afternoon recess, when James Linehan, the messenger boy, came with a note addressed to Miss Annie E. Ring, principal of the school. The note was short and asked the teacher to please excuse Charles, as his mother had been seriously hurt, and wanted to see her boy. Miss Ring told him that he need not stay at school any longer that day and to go home at once. The little fellow left at once and has not been seen since.

The Thursday before a 15-year-old boy, Raymond Hagan, was stopped on the street by a man and asked if he knew young Muth. He said that he did. He was then invited to go to a baseball game with the man next day and to be sure to bring Charles Muth along with him. Young Hagan told his family about the meeting and his family told the Muths, who were inclined to make little of it. It is believed now, however, that the stranger and the Muth boy's kidnapper are one and the same person.

The police are looking for a man. They believe that they have a good idea of whom they want and are able to give a full description. An order for his arrest has been sent out and the police, who are somewhat excited over the case, are working hard to locate him. They say that he is the person who was seen looking through the jewelry store window the other day and by his strange appearance made a most vivid impression upon Mrs. Muth.

Two other arrests have been made, but as they were made on suspicion and on the slightest clue, the police feel that they have really little right to hold the prisoners.

WITNESSES ARE LATE.

Interstate Commerce Commission Graft Hearing Delayed.

Philadelphia, June 15.—Owing to the non-appearance of several witnesses to the morning session of the interstate commerce commission investigation yesterday was delayed for nearly an hour. E. J. Berwind, head of the Berwind-White coal mining company, was present, but the commission was not ready to hear him.

Charles E. Beebe, counsel for the Berwind-White company, filed with the commission bills of lading and other data concerning coal shipments over Harbors pier.

Bernhardt Takes Home $200,000.

New York, June 16.—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who sailed on the steamer La Touraine yesterday morning, took with her more than $200,000 that she has made on her tour of this country. According to her manager, there has been taken in at all of her performances $1,088,000. Of this the actress' expenses were about $50,000. She has played in tents, dance halls, and, in one instance, in a private dining room.

HAVE YOU TRIED

the new Quick Desserts that grocers are now selling? They are justly termed "Easy to Make" as all ingredients are in the package. Three complete products—

D-Zerta

Quick Pudding and D-Zerta Perfect Jelly Dessert at 10c. per package, and D-Zerta Ice Cream Powder, 2 packages for 25 cents. Five choice flavors of each. A trial will convince you how easy it is to have the finest desserts with no labor and little expense. Order to-day.

Sleep Like a Top

Don't be awake with the remedy at your elbow. To banish wakefulness, nervous starts, bad dreams—to sleep soundly and waken refreshed—take

Beecham's Pills

Sold Every where. In boxes 10c. and 25c.

CRAZED WITH BURNING ECZEMA

Suffered From Childhood With Severe Itching and Burning—Eczema Soread Over Hands and Fingers—Received No Benefit From Physicians.

BLESSINGS FOR THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I was troubled with eczema in some way or other from childhood. About three years ago the trouble was confined to my right hand. I consulted two physicians, but received no benefit from them. In the winter of 1904 the trouble had become so bad as to extend over the back of my hand, and up on the fingers, and in a short time to the palm. The itching and burning at times was so severe as to almost drive me. I began to use Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent. I used two cakes of Soap, one box of the Ointment, and two bottles of the Resolvent. I cannot begin to tell of the benefit I received. My appetite and weight increased, and I felt and looked like a new person. You have my permission to publish as much of this as you see fit. Blessing the Cuticura Remedies, yours truly, Miss Flora E. Wiley, Milo, Me., Oct. 6, 1905."

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS
At the First Sign of Disfiguring Humors Is to Use Cuticura.

Every child born into the world with an inherited tendency to torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, becomes an object of the most tender solicitude. Hence it becomes the duty of mothers of such afflicted children to acquaint themselves with the best, the purest, and most effective treatment available, viz.: the Cuticura Treatment, consisting of warm baths with Cuticura Soap, and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment, and the great Skin Cure, Cures made in children are speedy, permanent, and economical.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Putters of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Putters of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world.

King Cotton's Poet Laureate.

From only the wreck of a wasted hull and the shank of a cast-off sail to find God's purpose and need. In forming the hull, the mast and later, and from this light began A brand-new industrial Dixiecity, the cottonseed oil mill man.

Old is the crushing of cottonseed oil, old as Isis or when Egyptian Pharaohs started graft for future insurance men. But nothing they knew of the wonderful store of a fairly make-believe—Of marvelous kinds of countless wealth that lurks in the modern squeeze.

Away with the poor polyseptic pig from the hygienic stable yard.

Though so far no hams have yet been made, the cottonseed makes such a good thing.

As even the Mosaic law permits of use by God's chosen few.

Who for thousands of years the cloven-foot brands by right were compelled to eschew.

Oh, the things they take and the things they make from the coy and modest seed.

Are enough to pale a reporter's brain or fill a philanthropist's greed—

Soap and cooking oil, olive oil too, from curdled to refined.

Mattress, food for beast and man, food for stomach and mind.

There's simply no limit to cottonseed deeds, the achievements are only begun.

Having already taken the land from the hog, they may yet take the chew from the gun.

But the very best showing the seed can produce is convincing these same oil mill men.

That Atlanta now welcomes within her midst and hopes she may welcome again.

Atlanta Constitution.

Cobwebs.

He—That was splendid old wine the Gormans gave us for dinner last night. She—Oh! James, do you really think the cobwebs on the bottles were really genuine?—Brooklyn.

Quickly Atoned.

Nippon—He married a divorced woman, didn't he? Tucker—Yes; but she had only been divorced a few days.—Judge.

Fruits of Victory.

A London surgeon has discovered a method of sewing up wounds without leaving scars. It is feared the discovery may make football unpopular with many of the players.—Denver Post.

Before the Crash.

Motorist's Friend—Oh, I say! Good-morning, gracious, well be smashed up in a minute.

Motorist—All right, my dear fellow, don't excite yourself. The firm I bought this motor from have agreed to keep it in repair for a year.—The Bits.

Summer Shows.

It is a wise summer garden which makes hay while the sun shines. Soon July will be here and no one knows how cold it may be then.—Chicago News.

The Old Rounder.

Haywire—Say, this is about the twentieth saloon we've passed where it says "General Ticker inside."

Grasshopper—Bogus! It beats all how some of these military chaps can drink so much and get round so all-fired lively!—Brooklyn Life.

The Shopgirls.

John deparaded notes are talking of putting in operating department. What do you think of that, now?

"Think! I think it's a shame. Every shopgirl will be having appendicitis!"—The Bits.

MURDERED BY MORO CHIEF

Lieutenant Bolton Killed In Mindanao

WAS ACTING GOVERNOR

He and Another American Victims of Treachery—Planters Are Alarmed—Fear Natives Are to Begin Holy War.

Washington, June 15.—Gen. Wood cabled from Manila to the war department under yesterday's date as follows:

"A despatch from Brigadier General Tasker H. Bliss reports that the murder of First Lieutenant Edward C. Bolton and a citizen named Benjamin Christian on the night of June 6 about forty miles south of Davao."

Additional advices from Manila say that Lieutenant Bolton, who was acting governor of Davao, on the island of Mindanao, and Christian, who was a plantation manager, were murdered by the Moro chief Mungulayon and his two brothers. The night before the murder the two victims were guests of the chief at his home.

Other Americans in Mindanao fear the Moros are bent upon a religious war, and are concentrating to protect themselves against attack. A so-called witch has been exhorting the natives to attack the Americans, and the natives are in a frenzy of excitement.

A band of Mindanao natives are on the rampage, robbing plantations and destroying buildings. Chief Mungulayon says he has 200 natives with him. Opposed to them are Col. W. S. Scott, assistant chief of the Philippine constabulary, at the head of 100 United States regulars and 100 of the constabulary. They are driving the natives toward the mountains.

Davao is situated on the gulf of that name on the south side of the island of Mindanao, about 300 miles from Manila.

DECISION LATER.

Case of T. J. Rogan in Quincy Labor Dispute Held by Judge Avery.

Boston, June 15.—The continued case of Thomas J. Rogan, a traveling delegate for the Quincy branch of the Granite Cutters' International Association, charged with intimidating John Donald to leave the employ of John N. McDonald on account of his not being a member of the union, came up for a hearing in Quincy yesterday.

Mr. McDonald testified that he saw Rogan on May 31, Rogan telling him the yard was on the unfair list. He stated that his brother was at work in the yard, that he was a non-union man and that I must get rid of him. This I declined to do. He then intimated to me if I didn't comply with his demand the union men would be called out. This he afterwards did."

John McDonald testified that he heard Rogan tell McDonald that the yard was on the unfair list. He also told me that the yard was on the unfair list. Asked Rogan if his statement meant that the union men would be called out, he replied that it did if Roderick McDonald continued to work there. He called the men out at noon, but finally consented to allow the men to remain for the remainder of the day. Have been out since that time."

Alexander Love testified that Rogan reported the McDonald case to the grievance committee and he (witness) was told to investigate it.

This closed the government evidence. Atty. McAnaney then asked the discharge of Rogan on the ground that no evidence had been adduced tending to show that McDonald left work through any threat made by Rogan. This Judge Avery declined to grant, and continued the case until June 23 for decision.

Definitely Thrown.

The nature feminine is prone To paradoxes sly. To hints that may be deftly thrown The nature feminine is prone For while she cannot throw a stone, A girl can be a sign. The nature feminine is prone To paradoxes sly. —Puck.

Quickly Atoned.

Nippon—He married a divorced woman, didn't he? Tucker—Yes; but she had only been divorced a few days.—Judge.

Fruits of Victory.

A London surgeon has discovered a method of sewing up wounds without leaving scars. It is feared the discovery may make football unpopular with many of the players.—Denver Post.

Before the Crash.

Motorist's Friend—Oh, I say! Good-morning, gracious, well be smashed up in a minute.

Motorist—All right, my dear fellow, don't excite yourself. The firm I bought this motor from have agreed to keep it in repair for a year.—The Bits.

Summer Shows.

It is a wise summer garden which makes hay while the sun shines. Soon July will be here and no one knows how cold it may be then.—Chicago News.

The Old Rounder.

Haywire—Say, this is about the twentieth saloon we've passed where it says "General Ticker inside."

Grasshopper—Bogus! It beats all how some of these military chaps can drink so much and get round so all-fired lively!—Brooklyn Life.

The Shopgirls.

John deparaded notes are talking of putting in operating department. What do you think of that, now?

"Think! I think it's a shame. Every shopgirl will be having appendicitis!"—The Bits.

NEURALGIA CURED

PATIENT GIVES ALL THE CREDIT TO DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS.

Disease Had Attacked the Heart and Would Doubtless Have Been Fatal Had Right Remedy Not Been Taken.

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure neuralgia there is no room to doubt. So many severe cases of this painful disease have yielded to these pills that the sufferer who is prevented by prejudice from trying the remedy deserves little sympathy.

Mrs. Charles Schultz, of 179 Thomas street, Newark, N. J., suffered for seven years with neuralgia which attacked her heart and which did not yield to the usual remedies. The story of the cure is best told in her own words. She says: "I had scarlet fever and it left me with a weak heart. Then I took cold and a severe pain settled in the region of my heart. My suffering was almost beyond description. I could not talk and the pain caught me at every breath. The awful pains would come on suddenly and I would have to sit right down. I could not walk and would get dizzy for a time."

"I was confined to bed for four weeks at one time and nothing seemed to do me any good. I was under a physician's care for months. He pronounced my trouble neuralgia of the heart and prescribed for me. The capsules he gave me relieved me for a time but the pain came back again."

"Finally Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me by a lady whose husband had been cured of paralysis by them and I decided to give the pills a good trial. While I was on the second box I began to see an improvement, the pains became less frequent and at last I was entirely cured. This was some time ago but I have had no relapse and have been in good health ever since. I think there is no medicine to equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."